

"Hello to everyone, my name is Andrés Castelló Martínez and I'm currently studying Telecommunication Engineering in the Polytechnic University in Valencia. I'm also a coordinator of IAESTE in the Comunidad Valenciana.

I had the chance to do an internship in Belgrade, in the Institut Mihajlo Pupin, during the summer of 2016. During this exchange I worked in the telecommunications department.

Altogether my experience there was wonderful. People were kind and generous and they helped me from the first moment I arrived. We were a really great group of IAESTE students in the dorm, that's why it was easier to settle down and enjoy the experience to the fullest.

Back in the Institut, I want to specially thank Lazar and Valentina for their warming welcome and their help during all my stay there. Respect to the others, I'd like to point out how comfortable they made me feel. Besides being a great place to work and improve my knowledge, there were lots of other aspects to be remarked: a great restaurant and health services, for example.

During my internship I was able to learn in which projects my tutor was involved and work in the development of an app for Android.

It was great being able to see and know how a real company works like. I would totally recommend visiting Serbia and enjoying this internship!"
