

Lutfu Sirac Kucukarabacioglu

Belgrade is a really beautiful city. There are a lot of sightseeing places such as museums, squares, towers, etc. The city is also very safe. People are very friendly in Belgrade, as you can meet someone randomly and you can talk as a friend with them. Some of people don't know English, especially at some stores and markets, but usually we found a way to make a conversation. When I came to the Institute Mihailo Pupin, at first I was a bit nervous. But then I understood they had international internship students before, and they experience with students exchange. They ask me which area interested me, so that I can learn something that I am fond of. I really wasn't expecting that, and I am truly appreciating that. So I was given a workplace at the department that is dedicated to the areas of my interest.

My mentors were really caring about me, and they tried to teach me as much as possible. They were really patient with me. This way, I would like to tell them, thank you again. And also other engineers were really polite to me. Sometimes we talked about culture, language and cultural differences. They were like friends to me. Food in IMP is really the best. I was talking with other friends, who were also IAESTE internship students, about foods and working conditions. Definitely IMP is the best place to do the internship. I am very happy for the opportunity to work in IMP. Thank you for everything.